SITTING IN THE HIGH CHAIR A MESSAGE FROM THE ACTING CHAIR – DOUG FORBES

As you can see, while the department of Sociology continues to function (more or less normally) there have been a few minor changes during this academic year. First, to calm your fears, Dr. Enright hasn't been replaced as Chairman of the Department. On the contrary, he is spending most of the Spring 2007 semester teaching in Australia. While he is gone, I am attempting to fill in and not destroy the reputation or morale of the Department.

Aside from really minor issues, we are much the same department as Bob wrote about in last year's newsletter – another year older and wiser (I hope), certainly more recognized. Dr. Gary Itzkowitz was honored with his second Katz Award, one of two faculty to be receiving this award from the College of Letters and Sciences this year. I know all of you reading this will want to send Gary congratulations, as do all of us here on campus.

We continue to pursue, through the bureaucracy, our plans to offer a Social Work degree. We hope to have a final verdict on our proposal from the administration by the end of the academic year. With that in mind, I am happy to report that the number of Sociology majors continues to rise here at U.W.S.P. As of March of this year, we have 244 declared Sociology majors, which is almost a 17 percent increase over 10 years ago, and over 40 percent higher than the number of declared majors in 1998. Although I don't have historical figures at my fingertips right now, the number of minors is roughly half our number of majors, so we appear to be in good shape in that regard.

The faculty, on the other hand, as you can see in the next pages of this newsletter, remain active in all the areas of teaching, scholarship, and service.

As always, keep us in mind if and when you return to campus or for the major events in your life. Send us an email or note to let us know how and what you're doing.

Cheers,
Doug

SCHOLARSHIPS

- ◆ Gordon Shipman Memorial Scholarship: In the spring of 1992, upon his death, a scholarship was established to honor Dr. Gordon Shipman, Professor of Sociology, who served UW-SP with distinction from 1966 to 1974. His research interests were in the areas of Family and Crime and Delinquency. Dr. Shipman was chair of the department from 1966-1970. In 1971, the Wisconsin Board of Regents granted him Professor Emeritus status at UW-SP. Students and faculty remember Dr. Shipman as an enthusiastic, energetic, concerned and caring teacher as well as an activist and leader in local political and community life. The 2007 recipient of this scholarship is Scott Farrell.
- ◆ George I.J. Dixon Memorial Scholarship: The fund for this scholarship was inaugurated through contributions from his colleagues and former students during the department's 40th Anniversary Celebration in the spring of 1995. Professor George Dixon joined the faculty in 1954 and served until his retirement as Professor Emeritus in 1976. He was the first Ph.D. sociologist at UW-SP, was instrumental in instituting the sociology major and creating a separate Department of Sociology, and served as its first chair in 1961. Professor Dixon is remembered for his personal commitment and encouragement of students to perform community service, work for social change, and promote social justice. The 2007 recipients of this scholarship are Erin Bossenbroek and Ashley Sinkula.
- ◆ Virginia Fish Scholarship in Sociology: This fund was established September 2006 by Arthur Fish, husband of emeritus sociology faculty member Virginia Kemp Fish, to honor her longtime dedication and service to the department. The scholarship is specifically designated for students who have a deep interest in women's studies and gender issues, or social deviance. The 2007 recipient of this scholarship is Cynthia Berg.
- ◆ Wolensky Family Scholarship. The scholarship is distributed annually to a Sociology major studying with UWSP in Poland, England, Australia, or Germany. It is one of several scholarships within the International Programs Scholarship Endowment (IPSE), which is part of the UWSP Foundation. IPSE was created 10 years ago by former faculty leaders and alumni who wanted to facilitate study abroad participation at UWSP. Students interested in applying for this or other IPSE scholarships can contact the International Programs office on the first floor of CCC. The recipient of the first Wolensky Family International Scholarship is Krystal Makins, a Sociology major who will study in Krakow, Poland during the fall 2007 semester.

ALPHA KAPPA DELTA

Relatively new to UW-SP, Alpha Kappa Delta (AKD) is the International Sociology Honor Society. Students are tapped for membership upon achievements and prerequisites required by AKD. To be eligible, students must have a minimum of a 3.0 grade point average overall and in their major. Lifetime membership dues are $40 per person. Eligible students will receive a letter early second semester asking them if they are interested in membership. AKD members receive a certificate and a special graduation cord, presented to them at an awards ceremony. Students interested may contact Professor Dorothy De Boer or Professor Doug Forbes.

Students becoming AKD members this year include: Candice Ackerman, Cynthia Berg, Becky Binder, Samantha Casey, Nicole Gottschalk, David Haecker, Elizabeth Kraus, Ashely Lenzi, Shannon Luedtke, Todd Maslowski, Amber McDougal, Rachael Miller, Stephen Montgomery, Holly Morrow, Kristie Schmitz, Ashley Sinkula, Vicky Steffens, Jessica Stewart, Kallie Thompson, and Amber Weisnicht.

SOCIOLOGY DEPARTMENT BANQUET

Scholarship recipients and AKD inductees were recognized at the Sociology Department Banquet which was held on March 11, 2007 at Michele's Restaurant in Stevens Point. At the banquet, inductees and scholarship winners received certificates from the Sociology Department. The winners of the Dixon Memorial Scholarship, Gordan Shipman Scholarship, and the Virginia Fish Scholarship all received $300 toward their continuing education here at UWSP. Those honored as the Letters and Science Student Award Winners, Scott Farrell and Nicole Potter, both received certificates from the Dean's office. All of the scholarship and award winners received complimentary meals paid for by the Community Research Center, Gary Itzkowitz, Director. All faculty members receiving awards were also recognized.

SMALL CITY CONFERENCE HELD IN OCTOBER 2006

Professor Bob Wolensky and The Center for the Small City co-organized the 16th Conference on the Small City and Regional Community, held last October in Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. The other co-sponsor was the Joint Urban Studies Center, a consortium of six colleges and universities in Northeastern, Pa. The conference theme was, "Downtown Development." The 17th Conference will be held at UWSP in September 2008, which will be the meeting's 30th anniversary.

STUDENT INTEREST

Written by: Bob Wolensky

David Haecker presented a poster and read a paper at the April 2007 Meetings of the Midwest Sociological Society in Chicago. The title of presentation was, "Crossing the Lines Between Entertainment and Reality: A Sociological Analysis of Collective Behavior in Professional Wrestling." He presented a similar paper at the College of Letters and Science Undergraduate Research Symposium in late April 2007. His work has been published in the UWSP Online Journal. His travel was supported by the Sociology Department Support Fund initiated by Emeritus Professor Gail Skelton, with additional contributions by the department faculty.

BOB ENRIGHT LEADS SEMESTER ABROAD TO AUSTRALIA

Bob Enright led 39 students, including two UWSP sociology majors, Emma Akers and Marissa Eckhert, in the Semester Abroad Program to Australia this spring semester. Bob split the semester's leadership responsibilities with recently retired College of Natural Resources Professor of Forestry, Hans Schabel. Bob led the second half of the program, meeting the group in Sydney and leading them on the 10-day exit tour through the South Island of New Zealand.

“I’m grateful to the department for supporting my efforts to lead this program,” Bob said. “It’s not often that a department chair has the opportunity to participate in a semester abroad, but I’ve been on the list to lead this program for nearly a decade, and I didn’t want to pass up the opportunity for this experience.”

Bob taught two courses as part of this program. One was Population Problems, which he taught online for the first portion of the semester while the students were in Australia and he was in Stevens Point. He finished the course in class during the second half. He also taught International Studies 300 which is the study-tour course, including field trips and lectures.

One of the strengths of a study tour is that it combines academic and experiential learning: We learned, for example, about Aboriginal culture not only through reading and lectures, but also through museum visits, meeting Aboriginal people, and watching their performances.

Bob says that he enjoyed the company of his students. “These students never ceased to amaze me with their enthusiasm and motivation to soak up every minute of this experience. They were remarkably open to new ideas and places, and they approached the whole experience with gusto.” They learned so much and taught me a great deal as well. Bob’s wife, Joan, and their two sons, Michael (age 15) and Robert (age 12), joined him on the trip. “This was the trip of a lifetime for all of us.”

THE DEPARTMENT'S INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

Written by: Amy Boelk

Spring 2007 Interns

The Applied Sociology and Social Work Internship Program

The Department's Internship Program aims to prepare students for work in the human services field by providing an opportunity to build skills and enhance knowledge in a variety of practice settings. Students are given the opportunity to apply what they have learned in the classroom to actual community and client situations. Community agency placement sites encompass work with a variety of client populations, social issues, and professionals. Students can conduct either an applied sociology practicum under the direction of Professor Woody Bishop or a social work practicum under the direction of Professor Amy Boelk. The Department is fortunate to have strong working relationships with a variety of social agencies throughout Central Wisconsin. The Department wishes to thank the following participating agencies for their dedication to student development over this academic year. The Department would also like to recognize the following students for their successful completion of an internship.

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT— GARY ITZKOWITZ

Written by Kristin Meulemans

Gary Itzkowitz has been at UWSP for 20 years. He began teaching here in 1987 and has a Bachelors Degree, a Masters Degree, and a Ph.D. from the American University in Washington D.C. Professor Itzkowitz is currently teaching a class on Social Problems.

Professor Itzkowitz was born in Scranton, Pennsylvania and currently lives in Wisconsin with his wife, Patricia, while keeping track of their three sons. Outside of the University and his work with the CRC, Gary likes to spend time traveling, relaxing with family and friends, watching a good movie, painting, reading, and trying to hit the occasional straight golf ball. Both students and faculty alike appreciate all the work that he has done and continues to put forth with his students, studies, and other endeavors.

COMMUNITY RESEARCH CENTER

Written by Gary Itzkowitz

These are some of the projects that were conducted this academic year:

- ◆ Began a community needs assessment for Portage County by chairing all Steering Committees and all sub-committee meetings and acting as lead researcher in the collection of community indicators including data on health, housing, public safety, civics & diversity, schools, work & income, leisure activities, the environment, children and family well-being, and the elderly. Community presentations will be conducted next fall on findings of the project.
- ◆ Conducted outcome training workshops for Portage County Health and Human Services.
- ◆ Conducted a telephone survey for the Portage County Alcohol and Drug Abuse Coalition.
- ◆ Conducted a telephone survey for the South Wood County Community Foundation as part of their community needs assessment.
- ◆ Conducted a telephone survey for the Stevens Point Area School District as part of their strategic plan exercise.
- ◆ Continued a process and outcomes program evaluation for the Prestige Protein Economic Development Project in Wood County. This project is funded through the U.S. Dept. of Health & Human Services (Office of Community Services & CAP Services). The evaluation is aimed at testing whether low-income hires, when provided additional services, will show increased wages.
- ◆ Continued a third year of a process and outcomes program evaluation for the Golden County Food Economic Development Project. This project is funded through the U.S. Dept. of Health & Human Services (Office of Community Services & CAP Services). The evaluation is aimed at testing whether low-income hires, when provided additional services, will show increased wages.
- ◆ Continued a third year of a process and outcomes program evaluation for the Portessi Pizza Economic Development Project. This project is funded through the U.S. Dept. of Health & Human Services (Office of Community Services). The evaluation is aimed at testing whether low-income hires, when provided additional services, will show increased wages.
- ◆ Continued a series of studies for Wood County Head Start aimed at following previous Head Start students as they progress through the public schools. Four studies involved an analysis of report cards, and one study analyzed student achievement in reading.

STUDY ABROAD FOR SOCIOLOGY MAJORS & MINORS

Written by: Bob Wolensky

Study Sociology Summer 2008 in Italy

A study-tour designed for Sociology majors and minors is being organized for June 2008 in the north of Italy. Milan, the Italian Lakes (Lugano, Como, Garda), Verona, Venice, Florence, Sienna, San Gimignano, and the Cinque Terra will be on the itinerary. Students can enroll for a three-credit course, Sociology 395, Sociology of Italy. The trip will be lead by Professor Bob Wolensky. Final details, including the exact dates and costs, will be available soon. For further information contact Professor Wolensky (rwolensk@uwsp.edu) or the UWSP International Programs office (346-2717).

Several Sociology majors and minors were among the 23 students who traveled with Professors Bob Wolensky (Sociology) and Jainwei Wang (Political Science) on a three-week trip to China in June 2006. The stops included Shanghai, Chengdu, and Beijing. Students interested in further semester and short-term trips abroad should contact the UWSP International Programs office on the first floor of the Collins Classroom Center. See the world while you can!

SOCIOLOGY CLUB NEWS

Written by Jamie Seefelt

The Sociology Club has been active on the UWSP campus since the 1987-88 school year. The club provides a wide rang of volunteer opportunities in order to learn directly about different populations and social problems, and also gain practical experience for possible future careers in social service organizations or social work.

This year, the Sociology Club has been working hard to get sociology and other students on campus involved in sociology and social justice issues. In November, Jamie Seefelt and Ali Bodendein went to the School of Americas Vigil, where they learned about many organizations in the U.S. and abroad. This past semester we have continued cooking dinner at the Salvation Army Hope Center twice a month. We have also made valentines and cupcakes for residents of the Portage County Health Care Center. We helped organize a presentation for Professor Bob Wolensky for his new book on the Avondale Mine Disaster. We did a presentation at the annual Boxes and Walls event on campus to raise awareness of homelessness in the community. We have participated in Books from the Heart, Bowl for Kids Sake, and Hunger Clean Up. We also provided 22 volunteers to supervise and have a good time with kids from families who adopt, at the annual Friends of Adoption Retreat at the Lodge in Cedar Creek.

FACULTY UPDATES

Amy Boelke got her dissertation proposal approved and advanced to candidacy as a doctoral student at the University of Texas at Austin. She will begin collecting data for her study entitled "Family Conflict at the End-of-Life: An Examination of the Experiences of Hospice Primary Caregivers and Professionals" over the summer.

Kathleen Lamb will have a paper coming out in the Journal of Family Issues in September titled, "I Want to be Just Like Their Real Dad: Factors Associated with Stepfather Adoption." Currently she also has two other articles under review in other journals. Kathleen will also be leading a trip to Poland East Central Europe in the fall of 2007. She has also received a technology mini-grant and a UPDC grant to obtain and analyze the Longitudinal National Study of Adolescent Health.

This study is the largest, most comprehensive survey of adolescent health risk behavior and relationships to date (90,000 youth are surveyed in three waves). This summer she, along with Doug Forbes, will be examining risky behavior among underrepresented adolescent groups, including Asians and Native Americans, using the data gathered.

Bob Wolensky's co-authored book, Accident or Arson: The Avondale Coal Mine Disaster of 1869, will be published this summer by the National Canal Museum Press. The volume delves into what was one of the nation's worst mining disasters with 110 victims. The authors re-examine the existing evidence and argue that the tragedy could have been caused by an arsonist motivated by labor, ethnic, and sectional

ALUMNI UPDATES

Written by Amy Boelk

Yvon Lonning currently serves in a supervisory capacity at Professional Services Group, a program providing services to at-risk youth in Portage County. She has been accepted to graduate school to work towards a Master's in Mental Health Counseling.

Chance Ujazdowski is currently working for AmeriCorps at the Winnebago County UW-Extension as the 4-H Youth and Family Outreach Specialist.

Jody Martin is employed as a case manager with Barry Healthcare, a home health agency that provides services to older adults.

Jennifer Laufenberg works as a child protective services social worker for Juneau County Human Services.

Todd Norton recently earned his doctorate at the University of Utah. He is currently Assistant Professor of Communication at Washington State University.

Chad Farrell recently completed his doctorate at Penn State with a specialty in Urban Sociology. He is currently Assistant Professor of Sociology at the University of Alaska-Anchorage.

Tricia Kunkle is a case manager for Lincoln County Social Services, working with adults with developmental disabilities.

Lori Blakevay will be attending the University of Michigan in the fall to begin work on her MSW.

PART-TIME FACULTY

Written by Kristin Meulemans

The Sociology Department was able to utilize the expertise of several community professionals this year in the teaching of courses. Helena Alden taught Sociology 352/552 Research Methods and Sociology 395 Special Topics in Sociology: Sociology of Gender; Cate Gitter taught Sociology 362 Social Work Methods: Community Organization & Social Service Administration; and John Shook taught Sociology 333 Corrections. The students and the faculty certainly benefited from the efforts of these individuals.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT- SCOTT FARRELL

Written by: Kristin Meulemans

Scott Farrell began at UWSP in fall of 2002. While enrolled here at the University, Scott is pursuing a major in Sociology and minors in Business Administration and Environmental Law Enforcement. His stay here at UWSP was put on hold for a time when he was sent overseas with his National Guard unit to Kuwait. We are glad to have him back.

After graduation, which Scott is looking forward to next May, he plans on going in law enforcement or pursuing other options in central WI, barring him winning the lottery or entering the NFL.

Scott came to UWSP from his hometown of Neenah, WI. Outside of his responsibilities at the University, he enjoys being outdoors. With fishing gearing up, it will be a good challenge getting through the rest of the semester. Beyond his admiration for the outdoors, Scott spends time volunteering for the Boys' and Girls' Brigade of Neenah-Menasha, and volunteering at a youth camp run by the Boys' and Girls' Brigade. Good luck with all of your future plans!!!

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT- NICOLE POTTER

Written by: Kristin Meulemans

Nicole Potter, who is from Janesville, WI, transferred from UW-Rock County (a two year campus) to UWSP in the fall of 2004. She is pursuing a major in sociology and minors in Native American and rural social work and psychology. After graduation Nicole is facing a few decisions including trying to get into the Peace Corps, finding a job, or continuing on to graduate school. She has been looking into Penn State as an option for studies in criminology. She has also considered moving to Las Vegas to be closer to some of her family.

Nicole is a member of Phi Omega Sorority and has been very active in the sorority including holding the social position for 3 semesters along with several other positions. Through her sorority she has accumulated lots of volunteer experience by participating in Special Olympics, Habitat for Humanity, Relay for Life, the campus blood drives, highway cleanup, and hunger cleanup. Recently her sorority has begun working with the Family Crisis Center. She was also active in the Inter-Greek Council, the governing body for Greeks on campus, by holding the position of their social chair.

Outside of these activities Nicole also plays volleyball in a summer league.

Nicole is also currently interning at the Department of Corrections Division of Juvenile Correction, and is looking forward to this fall when she will be in London for another sociology internship. While in London she will be placed at a Child and Family Psychiatric Unit. Good luck with all your future plans!!

MEET OUR 2006-2007 STUDENT OFFICE ASSISTANTS

STEPHANIE RUDIE & KRISTIN MEULEMANS

Stephanie Rudie is from Shawano, WI. She just recently became a Sociology major and is hoping to become a delinquency counselor. She enjoys photography and writing poetry. She also has three horses and enjoys being out in the pasture with them either grooming or riding.

Kristin Meulemans is also from Shawano, WI. She is a graduating senior this year and a Business Administration Major and Economics minor. She enjoys horse-back riding, camping, and reading a good book. She is also hoping to pursue a marketing-oriented career upon graduation in May 2007.
