Calling all SFE Students!

It’s never too early to start studying your plants for Treehaven! One of your peer mentors, Grace B, was kind enough to create a video to help you get started! Click the PowerPoint above to be taken to the SFE page on the UWSP website where you will find the video and other resources such as updated plant lists and more!
This week is Native American Awareness Week! The Native American Center hopes to bring visibility and representation of Indigenous people in a way that honors our culture in a historical and modern context. Check out some of the outstanding events that will be taking place! We encourage you to come out and attend to learn and celebrate the culture together.

Oxyaquic Haplorthod AKA "Spody"

My name is Oxyaquic Haplorthod or Spody for short. I dig holes! I am also into interesting smells, rolling in dead things, and stealing food. Sometimes I eat rocks.

Bugs and Bunny

While they are not internationally known, they been known to gnaw a doggie bone. Pee in the house and they get a chide, Nevertheless, Prestige Worldwide.

Mittens and Cloud

Meow, meow. We are Mittens and Cloud. We’re siblings and best friends!
Little Girl

My name is Little Girl. I was born very small and hardly grew. I am “full grown” but am about the same size as many lambs when they are only a few days old. I became a pet, while all of my buddies are still livestock, because I am supposed to train the professor’s grandson on how to handle livestock, and, I am small and docile, so, I am good at my job. Look at the professor’s hand for scale.

Penny

My name is Penny and I go by Penny Poo or Miss Penny. I am a Chihuahua mix. I love to go on walks, play with other dogs if they are nice and understand my small size, and hang out with my peeps and only my peeps (I don’t like people generally, especially small children and delivery people).

Ziggy and Argent

We are Ziggy and Argent and are four years old. Our cat mom and her four tiny babies were fostered in this home, and we got to stay. We love lurking in high places and snuggling with our large dog brother. We are not quite as sweet as we look, says Argie. Speak for yourself, I’m adorable, says Zigs.
Fritz
Hello, my name is Fritz von Russelstein scraps, AKA Hickelapple, sweet baby, Fritzels! I love car rides, food, and being with humans! Who's heart have I stolen in the CNR?

Maple
Hello! My name is Maple and I love to PLAY! Tennis balls and frisbees are the BEST! I also love to dig giant holes in the yard and snuggle with my mom.

Kiyo
Hello, my name is Kiyo (Key-Oh) and my two favorite things are chasing my toy on a string (like a cat) and ice cream!

Betty-girl
Hi – my name is Betty-girl. I love being in the woods and especially the water. I also have quite the sweet tooth so anything bakery related, from cookies to croissants to even a box of cake mix, is MINE if it is stupidly left out and within my reach.
