Course Description

Whether you are interested in working for a non-profit, corporation or political campaign, effective written communication is paramount for success. Throughout the semester we will take a hands on approach to public relations writing, as well as internal communication best practices. We will research a variety of public relations case studies where written communication was used effectively and ineffectively. Alongside analyzing real-life case studies, this course will help you build your own public relations writing and editing skills. As part of the course, you will be asked to write news releases, news advisories, fact sheets, key messages, promotional brochures, blog and Twitter posts, newsletters, press kits, and speeches. To reach these goals, we will rely on our textbook, as well as additional readings posting to LinkedIn. Each class session is designed to incorporate discussion, as well as individual and group assignments.

Course Objectives

1. Compose effective Public Relations messages through AP Style, flawless grammar, and clear writing.
2. Analyze one's target audience, as well as the immediate opportunities and constraints that help/hinder communication with that audience.
3. Create a Public Relations Strategy to appeal to a target audience and the general public.

4. Demonstrate understanding of the ethical principles surrounding the field of Public Relations.

Division of Communication Learning Objectives for Communication Majors

This course will help you achieve the Division's objectives for all majors, especially numbers 1 and 5.

1. Communicate effectively using appropriate technologies for diverse audiences.
2. Plan, evaluate and conduct basic communication research.
3. Use communication theories to understand and solve communication problems.
4. Apply historical communication perspectives to contemporary issues and practices.
5. Apply principles of ethical decision making in communication contexts.

In addition to these graded assignments, you may be asked to complete a number of additional practice assignments. These assignments help develop your writing skills, and count toward your Participation and Professionalism grade.

Extra Credit: Extra credit may be announced in class only. These opportunities are optional. Specific directions will be provided when the opportunity arises.

Course Policies Agreement

At the start of the semester students will electronically sign a course policies agreement and upload it to the D2L dropbox. The course policy agreement lists documents that must be reviewed before the course begins. To receive credit, students must read the appropriate documents, indicate that the materials have been read, and then upload the agreement to the D2L dropbox.

Attendance, Participation and Professionalism

Class discussions and activities are vital to your understanding of key course concepts. Just like in the public relations world, many of the activities and presentations in this course are collaborative. That being said, it is vital for you to come to class, and constructively collaborate with your colleagues. This will help you better understand the course concepts, and prepare you for collaborating on graded group projects. As such, attendance is strongly encouraged.

Anyone who misses a class should make arrangements with another student to copy notes, review announcements, and so forth. The instructor will present course materials only during designated class periods and will not reiterate materials from an entire class session during office hours. If students have specific questions that seek clarification about course content from a previous class period, they should not hesitate to ask, and the instructor will gladly work to clarify the course materials. However, students should not arrive at an instructor's office hours with the assumption that the instructor will "go over whatever I missed." Continually arriving late and/or leaving early is strongly discouraged. If it becomes a distraction, these instances will count as an absence.

Throughout the semester 100 points will be allocated toward your Participation and Professionalism grade. Participation and Professionalism will be evaluated throughout the semester and posted before the final presentation date. Students may contact the instructor at any time to inquire about their participation and professionalism grade.

Please note that simply attending class does not constitute as full participation. Students are expected to be active in class (i.e., engaged in discussion/activities and making substantive connections to the course material/textbook). Below are four Participation and Professionalism principles. Students who follow all four of these principles will receive full points for in class discussion/interaction each week.

- Participation: Participation includes making helpful comments, grounded in key course concepts. These comments should help others in the class better understand the material. Remember that active listening is another key communication component.
- Preparation: Everyone is expected to have their book and read the assigned chapter(s) before attending class.
- Punctuality/Politeness: There are unavoidable circumstances to be late, but make every effort to always arrive on time. If, for some reason, you run late on presentation days, do not walk into the classroom or knock on the door while one of your classmates is presenting. Please wait until the presentation has finished to enter. There is also a strict technology policy for this course. Students will get two free passes for breaking the technology policy (i.e. forgetting to silence a phone, texting during class, etc.). After that 3 points will be deducted for every disruption.
- Professionalism: The classroom is an inclusive and professional environment. Everyone is to be treated with respect. Do not engage in side conversations, or be disruptive, when someone is speaking in front of the room. All types of communication in this course should be formal and professional. For example, when emailing the instructor or your colleagues, remember to include a proper subject line, greeting, and proper grammar.

| Excellent Participation = 100-90 points | The student consistently adds value to discussion, makes connection to the text/course material, and always/mostly follows the principles stated above. |
| Good Participation = 89-80 points | The student regularly adds to the discussion, but has not consistently made connections to the text/course material. The student typically follows the principles stated above. |
| Average Participation = 79-70 pts | The student adds some value to discussion, but inconsistently makes connections to the text/course materials. The student sometimes follows the principles stated above, |
| Superficial Participation = 69-60 pts | The student infrequently participates and does not make connections to the text/course material. The student infrequently follows the principles stated above. |
| Non-Helpful Participation = 59-1 pts | The student does not add value to the discussion; or comments are completely unrelated. The student is unprofessional and does not follow four principles stated above. |

No participation The student does not attend class and thus does not participate.
= 0 points

Participation and Professionalism Self Evaluation

This assignment allows you to write a one-page argument where you propose the grade you honestly deserve for class. As part of this assignment you must:

1. Present evidence and reasoning for the grade you assign (i.e., indicate what you have contributed to the class and align it with the evaluation criteria listed above).
2. Present an argument about what you will do moving forward to either (a) continue your current participation level or (b) improve your class participation.
3. Meet with the instructor in the middle of the semester to discuss your progress at achieving your course goal.

LinkedIn Posts

In today's business world, social media plays a vital networking role, but also a forum for discussion. Throughout the semester you will be asked to create a LinkedIn profile and participate in our class discussion board about topics related to Public Relations, Writing, and Corporate Communication.

- Create a Social Media Profile
 - In order to participate in this part of the assignment, you must create or update a LinkedIn profile that contains relevant information about education, experience, and key skills.
- Join the Class LinkedIn Group
 - During the first week of class, you must join the LinkedIn group that was set up for the course. After you have created your LinkedIn profile, join the group by following this link and then clicking the yellow "Join" button: <https://www.linkedin.com/groups/7063756>
 - Be aware that after you join, there may be a delay before your request is approved. Please join the group before the deadline. If your request to join the group is not approved prior to the deadline for the first post, you will lose the points.
- Participate in Discussions
 - Throughout the semester you are required to post to the discussion board at least seven times (i.e., every other week). To accomplish the goal of seven posts you can participate in the discussion board in two ways.
 1. Respond to an article that I or another colleague has posted to the LinkedIn Discussion board.
 2. Post a new article and short reflection on the value of this article for the course and/or PR industry.
- Evaluation Criteria
 - Posts will be evaluated based on the following criteria:
 1. Proper AP style, spelling and grammar.
 2. The post is at least a full paragraph long (i.e., 4 sentences).
 3. The post does not just summarize the article, but ties the article (or other response in the thread) to a relevant conversation about key course concepts.
 4. You may post to the discussion board as much as you would like. However, you must post at least once every other week of the semester. Although seven posts is the minimum, you may not wait until the end of the semester to post all of your comments. You must spread out response across the semester to have an ongoing dialogue with your colleagues.

Reading/Lecture/AP Style Quizzes

There will be four quizzes throughout the semester. Quizzes are to test key ideas from the readings, lectures, class discussions and your grasp on grammar and AP style. Quiz dates are scheduled for the following dates:

- Quiz 1: Wednesday Sept. 21
- Quiz 2: Monday, Oct. 17
- Quiz 3: Monday, Nov. 14
- Quiz 4: Wednesday, Dec. 7

Homework #1: PR/Media Analysis Assignment

For this homework, you will be asked to find an official press release and a corresponding news article from the mainstream media. For example, if you are interested in U.S. politics, you may want to find a press release from the Clinton or Trump campaigns about fundraising efforts and find a news article from the New York Times, Washington Post, Wall Street Journal, etc. that discusses the same topic.

The key to this assignment is analyzing the similarities and differences between the two documents. This requires two steps.

First, in a PDF format, please highlight, circle, or write on both the press release and news article. You can do this electronically or take a photo of a printed copy of the assignment and upload it to D2L. (If you have a smartphone, to turn photos into PDFs you may want to consider using the app Genius Scanner). In this part of the assignment you should clearly identify the following information.

1. The lead of the article/release
2. The focus of the article's 'newsworthiness' or 'angle'
3. The pieces of evidence used to support the release/article's focus

Second, write an analysis of how the Press Release and News Article approach the topic. Your analysis should be at least two double spaced pages. In this analysis, you may want to consider the following questions.

1. Does each document contain the same kind of lead?
2. Does the Press Release contain more/less information in the news article?
3. How does the 'angle' or 'newsworthiness' differ?
4. Is additional evidence used in one over the other? If so, why do you think they differ?
5. Are there writing differences between the two documents? (i.e., AP style, grammar, tone, etc.)
6. What information does the end reader learn from both documents? Is this the same or different?

Finally, in your response paper, indicate what you think is the main difference between a Press Release and News article. You can base this off of the book or give your general opinion. This is a question we will continue to discuss throughout the semester.

Homework #2: Target Audience/Audience Analysis

For this homework, you will analyze how a text motivates an audience to action through symbol use. This paper involves writing an analysis (two pages minimum) and key messages for an issue that you care about. This can be a contemporary or historical case study. The key to the assignment is that you analyze one instance of a rhetorical situation and then think of key messages to appeal to the target/rhetorical audience. To start this homework, consider the following steps.

1. Find an issue or campaign that you care (and want to learn more) about
2. Find any Press Releases or Digital Newsroom sites for this cause/campaign
3. Analyze the problem or situation marked by urgency (i.e., why is the rhetor speaking/writing), audience (i.e., who can be motivated to help solve or address the exigence), and constraints (i.e., the positive or negative things that stand in the way of the cause/campaign you are analyzing)
4. Once you identify the situation, target audience and constraints think about what kinds of messages would appeal to those who could be persuaded or motivated to action through symbol use.

5. After writing up your analysis, write five key messages that address the situation, are directed at the target audience, and utilize or avoid key constraints.
6. Be ready to share your post in our class workshop where you will get copy and content edits.

Homework #3: Interview Blog Post

For this homework, you will be required to interview at least one person and write a blog post based on this interview. The blog post can center on the interview subject (such as a profile) or about a particular topic. Regardless of what angle your blog post takes, you should write a 500 – 800 word blog post. To start this assignment, consider the following steps:

1. Find an interview subject and set up an in person or phone interview. This interview subject can be related to Public Relations or a topic of your choice.
2. Based on your interview, find an angle or story that you can center the post around (a tip to consider might be suggested tips or hints that folks could take on a subject).
3. Write your blog post in a style that is appropriate for the medium.
4. Be ready to share your post in our class workshop where you will get copy and content edits.
5. Post your blog post to our LinkedIn page for others to comment on for the future.

Homework #4: News Release

For this homework, you will be asked to write a formal press release about an event or success related to UWSP or the Stevens Point area. Throughout the semester, you will want to brainstorm a topic for this press release and post your topic to the D2L Discussion Board ASAP. Topics cannot be repeated, and must be relevant to the UWSP or Stevens Point community. To start this assignment, consider the following steps.

1. Begin thinking about your topic early. There are lots of things going on in the community, so find an event that you think would be worthy of writing a press release for. You may also want to look toward the final group assignment—creating a digital newsroom.
2. Once you think you know your topic, post it to the D2L Discussion Board for all to see. As long as the topic is not taken, as fits the assignment guidelines, I will respond with approval.
3. Begin to research your topic using secondary and primary research (i.e., interviews)
4. Write a draft of your press release and be ready to make edits in our class workshop.

Internal Magazine/Feature Story

This assignment helps hone your PR writing skills in a long-form or feature form. The goal of the assignment is to write a 1,500-2,000 word internal magazine feature story. Unlike other public facing forms of Public Relations, your audience for this assignment is targeted at an internal client. In other words, your magazine/feature story should be written for an internal client/organization. To start this assignment, consider the following steps:

1. Begin to think about a topic and audience you would like to write about. You can write about the UWSP community, Division of Communication, or a company/campaign of your choice.
2. Once you know your topic, post it to the D2L Discussion Board for all to see. As long as the topic is not taken, I will respond with approval.
3. Begin to research your topic using primary and secondary research (i.e., interviews)
4. Write a draft of your magazine/feature story and be ready to make edits in our class workshop.

Group Digital Newsroom Project

For this final project, you will work in groups of 3-4 to produce the strategy and content for an entire digital newsroom and communication strategy. The primary goal of this assignment is to develop your writing skills. It will be evaluated based on the writing, not the overall design and layout.

Although individual group members may take responsibility for certain parts of the digital newsroom content creation, the entire group should develop the strategy as a whole. The idea behind this group project is to begin working as a team at the beginning of the semester and develop the project over the course of several weeks. Throughout the semester you will work closely with your teammates on editing homework assignments and completing classroom activities.

Development of the Digital Newsroom will include several items, specifically:

1. A Communication Strategy Document listing all content, audience, delivery date, and owner
2. At two Press Releases / Media Advisories
3. At least two Blog Posts / Tweets / Facebook updates
4. A set of Key Messages
5. A Frequently Asked Questions document
6. A Fast Facts or Factsheet document
7. Contact information
8. Biographical or historical information

GENERAL GRADING POLICIES

Submission of Assignments

All assignments should be submitted on D2L by the specified date. You do not need to print off hard copies (unless otherwise specified).

Grading Policy

All course work is due by the date and time listed in the schedule unless otherwise noted. Requests to extend a due date for an assignment will be handled on a case-by-case basis, and the instructor has final say about any such arrangement. Requests should be made before an assignment is due—except in extenuating circumstances with documentation. Late work automatically will be docked 10% for each 24 hours after an assignment is due. Please note: Even if an assignment is turned in 1-minute past the deadline it will be considered late and subject to the 10% penalty.

Discussion of grades on assignments must take place before two weeks have elapsed from the receipt of the grade. After this, students are free to contact the instructor for clarification about a grade, but all numeric scores for assignments are final and will not be modified, regardless of the result of the discussion. In other words, don't wait until the last week of the class to ask about a possible grading error on an assignment that was completed more than two weeks prior. Grade disputes must be submitted in a written format (printed document or via email). In the document, provide concrete and defensible reasons for disputing a grade. Following receipt of the document, the instructor will review it and either reply with an explanation and/or may request a meeting with the student.

Grading Criteria for All Written Assignments

Written assignments for this class should follow the assignment guidelines. In any written work, please remember to provide arguments with ample evidence. This course is graded with the idea that an "A" is reserved for outstanding work. This means that the assignment demonstrates strong critical-thinking skills, makes an argument, supports it with ample evidence and is virtually error free. In contrast, a "C" is reserved for average work. This means that the assignment follows the minimum requirements, but may be unclear or not contain enough support.

Here are a few guidelines to follow before submitting written documents:

- Assignments should follow ALL the guidelines posted to D2L.
- Ideas are clearly expressed and supported with ample evidence from the course readings and/or outside sources.
- Assignments contain proper grammar and spelling (i.e., the paper has been thoroughly proofread). One way to ensure a paper is error free and easy to read is to read the paper out loud prior to submitting.
- Any assignment should follow AP style guidelines.
- Specific grading rubrics for each assignment will be available prior to its submission.

Revision Policy

One of the key aspects to this course is to hone in your writing skills. As part of that focus, editing is always the most important part of the writing process. Those who earn less than an 80 percent on a written homework assignment will be permitted to revise the assignment in order to improve the grade, according to the following policy:

1. No revisions will be allowed for written assignments earning an 80 percent or higher.
2. A revision does NOT guarantee a higher grade. You must show significant improvement in order to earn a higher grade.
3. A revision can improve the grade by up to 5 percentage points.
4. No revisions will be permitted for group projects or the final project.
5. Revisions will be due one week after you receive feedback.
6. Late work cannot be revised.

Final Grade Scale

| Grading Scale | Letter Grade |

GENERAL COURSE POLICIES

Read the following policies carefully. Enrollment in the class constitutes agreement with and understanding of these policies. Ignorance of these policies does not excuse their violation.

Technology in the Classroom

Laptops or tablets may be used to take notes and for collaborative in-class assignments. Cell phones should be silenced and not used in the classroom. If you are expecting a phone call or text message that is absolutely urgent, please let the instructor know ahead of time, and then quietly excuse yourself from the room to take care of the matter. Adherence of this technology policy is part of the Participation and Professionalism course grade.

Excuses for Missed Work

Your instructor, on a case-by-case basis, will evaluate excuses for missed work. Permission to make up missed work will be granted only in the most unusual of circumstances, and only for excused absences. Any work missed due to an unexcused absence cannot be made up. These requirements are necessarily strict and enforced in order to provide fairness to all class participants.

To be eligible for permission to make up an assignment due to a verified absence, you must provide:

- Written evidence of the absolute need for you to be absent (emails are not acceptable)
- This evidence must be from an appropriate, verifiable source

Evidence must be presented to your instructor no later than one week after the missed assignment. Except in the cases of extreme emergency, however, students who need to be absent should contact their Instructor at least one week prior to the date they will be absent. The primary requirement of the evidence for the absence is that it must demonstrate that a circumstance beyond your control required you to miss class on that day. Not being able to find a parking space is not a circumstance beyond your control, nor is oversleeping. On the other hand, if you have a note from a doctor verifying that you had an illness that prevented you from attending class, that would count as a circumstance beyond your control, as would being called up for military service or jury duty, as long as you provide the appropriate documentation. When it comes to being present and prepared on the days a quiz or class assignment is being given, it is presumed that most things are under your control. You will only be permitted to make up a quiz or assignment due to extraordinary crises. Carelessness and unpreparedness, and all the things that result from them, will not be considered valid reasons for making up a speech or exam.

Technology Requirements

Written work must be posted to the D2L dropbox in Microsoft Word (.doc or .docx) or PDF formats only. No other formats will be accepted. If the instructor cannot open your document, it will not count as being turned in, and you must reformat and repost. Late penalties will apply. Be sure to keep copies of your work and the feedback for the entire duration of the class.

When necessary, the instructor will communicate with the class and/or individual students via the email address listed in your D2L account. It is your responsibility to check that email account regularly.

Plagiarism and Academic Integrity

From the UWSP 14.01 STATEMENT OF PRINCIPLES – Students are responsible for the honest completion and representation of their work, for the appropriate citation of sources, and for respect of others' academic endeavors. Students who violate these standards must be confronted and must accept the consequences of their actions. For more info: <http://www.uwsp.edu/dos/Pages/Academic-Misconduct.aspx>

Note: Submissions via D2L will be automatically screened for plagiarism.

Students with Special Needs/Disabilities

If you have a disability and require accommodation, please register with the Disability and Assistive Technology Center (6th floor of the Learning Resource Center – that is, the Library) and contact me at the beginning of the course. More information is available here: <http://www4.uwsp.edu/special/disability/>.

Emergency Procedures

In the event of an emergency, this course complies with UWSP's outline for various situations. A full list of these emergency plans is available here: <http://www.uwsp.edu/rmgt/Pages/em/procedures/default.aspx>

A Note on Achieving Academic Success in this Course

To reach this end, I am happy to be here for you as much as you'd like. Please do not hesitate to reach out to me via email or stop by my office at any time. Throughout the semester there will be at least one required one-on-one individual appointment to discuss class participation and course goals. However, if you'd like to discuss individual assignments or anything, do not hesitate to reach out.
