Course Description:

This course is designed to expose you to issues and concepts of pluralism and diversity in education. Activities and assignments in this course are intended to help you broaden and deepen your understanding of issues impacting the lives of school-aged students from a variety of backgrounds, and to build self-awareness skills. Most of the examples used in this course are framed for educators, but the issues and concepts are applicable to almost all areas of work and citizenship. I will encourage you to share examples and experiences in class that help your peers better understand and connect with the course content.

This course is founded on the assumption that there is injustice in the world and that inequities exist. At times throughout this course, you may feel that their values and beliefs conflict with others in the class or with other readings. However, do not forget that learning takes place most when we are willing and able to stretch outside our comfort zone to try to understand something new and different.

This course analyzes and evaluates education in U.S., policy of equal educational opportunity, and impact of class, gender, race, and language differences on teaching and learning. It involves lectures, discussions, and presentations for pre-service teacher education students on topics mandated for initial certification programs in Wisconsin (Wis Admin Rule PI 34.022).

We are facing unprecedented period in our lives as COVID-19 pandemic transforms our lives we never imagined some months ago. This course therefore is offered entirely online, and our platform of choice is that of the university which is the video conferencing tool – ZOOM. On the ZOOM section of this syllabus, pay attention to the details and if you have not used Zoom before, work through the videos and links provided.

Student Learning Outcomes (SLO's):

By the end of the course, you will be able to:

1. Explain and appreciate the history, culture, and contributions of women and various racial, cultural, language and economic groups in the United States.
2. Explain and appreciate your own culture.
3. Explain the roots and impacts of discrimination, especially racism and sexism in American society.
4. Articulate his/her own culture, both objectively and subjectively.
5. Demonstrate an understanding of the psychological and social implications of discrimination, especially racism

6. and sexism in American society.
7. Explain strategies for creating spaces that are safe and welcoming, in which everyone can succeed.

GEP Requirement and Portfolio: The practicum project, the cultural exploration project serves as the experiential learning project requirement for the General Education Program and are required as part of your teaching portfolio for education majors. These two projects are required in their entirety to complete the course.

Aligned TASC Model Core Teaching Standards:

The TASC Core Teaching Standards have been adopted by the UWSP School of Education. The standards have been grouped into four general categories (The Learner and Learning, Content, Instructional Practice, and Professional Responsibility) to help users organize thinking about the standards.

2. Learning Differences. The teacher uses understanding of individual differences and diverse cultures and communities to ensure inclusive learning environments that enable each learner to meet high standards.

3. Learning Environments. The teacher works with others to create environments that support individual and collaborative learning, and that encourage positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.

Practicum (Field Experience)

As part of this course, you are required to complete 12 practicum hours. See the "Practicum" module for the details, resources, and assignments.

Assignments

Your final grade in this course will reflect the quality of your work across the semester. It is my goal to help you learn as much as possible from this course. All the assignments are listed on Canvas. Directions and rubrics for all the assignments are listed on Canvas too. Please read the directions and rubrics for each assignment carefully. All assignments must be submitted via Canvas unless otherwise indicated. You must save all your work electronically before submitting it. I am always happy to answer questions on the assignments, please do not hesitate to ask.

All submissions must be typed using 12-point Times New Roman font, with 1-inch margins on all sides. A cover page specifying the assignment and student's name must be included. APA style should be approximated

Respond to the Syllabus

By the due date, I would like you to read the class syllabus carefully and then to write down your understanding of various points. This is so I can be sure you understand what you are getting yourself into. You automatically receive full points if you complete it on time. By completing this assignment, you are saying that you have read the syllabus. You are also saying that if you have any questions about the syllabus, you have asked me, or you will ask me.

In this assignment, you will also introduce yourself to me. I will read your introduction and reply to you individually. Detailed info and guidelines for the assignment are posted on Canvas.

Movie Analysis Paper

You will be asked to watch one of the movies about diversity and pluralism. You can choose one of those movies below: Your paper will be an analysis of the diversity or multiculturalism evident in these movies.

The purpose of the paper is to prompt you to critically apply the course concepts using a specific example of education. I have reserved movies for you in the library. Look at the guideline how to use the library. Please, do not wait until the last day to watch it. Detailed information and guidelines for the assignment are posted on Canvas.

Online Documentary Discussions

Online Discussion Boards are an important aspect of this course. You will be asked to watch 5 documentaries about diversity and pluralism. Documentary names are posted on Canvas. You can use the website (<http://kanopy.com>) or other sources to watch documentaries. Each student is required to post his or her thoughts on the documentaries after watching them on the Canvas discussion board by the given date. Students' posted discussions will be used by the instructor as an assessment of students' understanding of the readings and lectures. In the spirit of encouraging a collaborative learning environment, students can also choose to respond to each other's discussion on Canvas. These discussions should indicate that you watched the documentary. So, you would better give some specific content or something that proves you watched the documentary. When necessary, the instructor will respond to the discussion posts. To receive credit, students' discussions should be posted on Canvas by the due date. Detailed information and guidelines for the assignment are posted on Canvas.

Community Research Presentation

Your major project for this class will include a group community project with a group. Each group will do a research study on a group in the community whose culture is different from your own. Based on the information from your case study you will introduce that group to the class. Detailed information and guidelines for the assignment are posted on Canvas.

Anchorman for a Day

The idea behind this exercise is to show the relevance of the points we will be covering in class and in our readings to what is happening around us.

Practicum Reflection Paper

As part of this course, you are required to complete 12 practicum hours. This paper is for you to connect your practicum experience to the content you experienced in the lecture section. It is also an opportunity for you to practice and demonstrate your professional writing. You are to write your takeaways from your field experience. Detailed information and guidelines for the assignment are posted on Canvas.

Course and University PoliciesATTENDANCE

Attendance in all Zoom class sessions are highly recommended. Although this course will be delivered entirely virtual, online attendance will be taken during each class session at the beginning and randomly through the class period.

Each Zoom class session will involve discussion of the readings, mini-lectures, and in-class projects and activities. It is in your best interest to attend every class and to participate actively. During each session, we will have the opportunity to break into rooms for more collaborative work with your peers. However, I also understand that emergencies and illnesses occur, and those events may cause you to miss class. You are allowed only 2 absences for illness or personal emergency from this course.

You are responsible for notifying faculty members of such circumstances as far in advance as possible and for providing documentation to the Office of the Dean of Students to verify the reason for the absence. At the end of the course, if you miss 2 or fewer classes, you will receive full points for attendance; and after the second class missed a penalty is applied which might involve extra work to be completed. In the alternative, point deduction of up to 4 points may be applied for each class missed. More than 4 absences are a serious cause for concern; they will necessitate a conference with me. Attendance refers not only to Zoom online presence, but also active mental engagement, participation, and professional demeanor.

LATE SUBMISSION OF WORK

I expect you to complete all assignments on time. An assignment completed on time can receive 100% of the points possible. An assignment turned in within 48 hours of the due that have a maximum value of 80% of possible points.

Except for rare cases of serious illness or family emergencies, the expectation is that you professionally show up at Zoom class meetings, on time, fully prepared, with a strong sense of personal responsibility. When professionals cannot meet their responsibilities due to unusual circumstances, they communicate with their supervisors and colleagues as soon as possible. Should you have an emergency requiring an absence, please notify me by email prior to the class. We do activities and are actively learning in the class time we have together.

I expect you to honor your responsibilities, including attending every class meeting. However, I understand that you have a life beyond this course, and that unexpected problems or crises can interfere with your attendance or assignments.

Academic Dishonesty

Academic dishonesty will not be tolerated. This includes, but is not limited to, cheating on an exam, plagiarism, and/or giving (or asking for) the questions or answers on a quiz. Breaches of academic dishonesty will result in a failing grade and will be taken up with the university committee charged with prosecuting academic dishonesty. "Turnitin" software will be used for assignments in this course. Turnitin helps students avoid plagiarism and helps instructors give assessment feedback to students.

Here is the policy, for your reference:

UWSP 14.01 Statement of Principles

The board of regents, administrators, faculty, academic staff, and students at the University of Wisconsin system believe that academic honesty and integrity are fundamental to the mission of higher education and of the University of Wisconsin system. The university has a responsibility to promote academic honesty and integrity and to develop procedures to deal effectively with instances of academic dishonesty. Students are responsible for the honest completion and representation of their work, for the appropriate citation of sources, and for respect of others' academic endeavors.

To read UWSP's definition of academic misconduct, please consult UWSP 14.03. In short, examples of academic misconduct include, but are not limited to:

- Cheating on an examination
- Collaborating with others in work to be presented, contrary to the stated rules of the course
- Submitting a paper or assignment as one's own work when a part or all the paper or assignment is the work of another
- Submitting a paper or assignment that contains ideas or research of others without appropriately identifying the sources of those ideas
- Submitting, if contrary to the rules of a course, work previously presented in another course

Plagiarism Policy:

Cheating and plagiarism is not tolerated. Assignments that are plagiarized will be considered unacceptable and major consequences may follow. If anyone is unsure of whether something is plagiarized, please consult a reference or me. Assignments submitted to Canvas may be randomly scanned using Turnitin software.

The rights and responsibilities document also includes the policies regarding academic misconduct, which can be found in Chapter 14. A direct link can be found here: <http://www.uwsp.edu/stuaffairs/Documents/RightsRespons/SSR-2010/rightsChapter14.pdf>

Writing Policy:

Your writing should follow the current APA style 7 format. It is expected that all pieces of writing submitted for this course be proofread for conventional errors. This includes grammatical errors and incorrect sentence structures. Points may be deducted for conventional errors. In text citation for quotes and paraphrasing of an author is required followed with full citation in APA format.

You can find concise reference for the current APA 7 format in University of Purdue Writing Lab by clicking the link.

Example of an in-text quote:

According to Jones (1998), "Students often had difficulty using APA style, especially when it was their first time" (p. 199).

Example of a paraphrased reference:

According to Jones (1998), APA style is a difficult citation format for first-time learners.

Example of full citation:

Author, A. A. (Year of publication). Title of work: Capital letter also for subtitle. Location: Publisher.

Course Disposition Policy:

I align my policies and choices with my department's expectations. The School of Education has adopted a model of the dispositions we expect from our students and graduates. I do not expect you to be at the final "Mastering" level in your dispositions. Instead, I offer this model for your own self-evaluation and goal setting.

Appropriate dispositions should be demonstrated throughout the course. One of the most valuable dispositions in this course is professionalism. It is expected that students approach this course as if it were the beginning of his or her career. This includes being prepared for every class period, turning in assignments on time, attending every class unless there is a documented emergency or illness.

Very important is to be professional in the classroom and with your practicum teacher. Be on time and communicate with them. This is not only a disposition expectation; it is also critical for future relations with you and the university as a future professional in the community. Attendance refers not only to Zoom online presence, but also active mental engagement, participation, and professional demeanor.

Class Climate & Honoring Difference:

The School of Education strives to honor the uniqueness of all learners. I am dedicated to creating safe, inclusive, welcoming experiences in which all students can succeed. I mindfully plan and teach this course in ways that promote pluralism: celebrating the coexistence of multiple identities, cultures, and belief systems.

If you feel unwelcome or unsafe in this course, or you have any concerns about your ability to succeed, please let me know. We can address the issue together, confidentially. As a teacher, I align my policies and choices with my university's guidance, including the UWSP Community Bill of Rights and Responsibilities.

Exceptional Needs Policy and American with Disabilities Act:

If you are unfamiliar or uneasy with this process, please contact me anyways and we will work through it together. I am dedicated to accommodating the needs of my students. I do not believe that equal treatment is the same as fair treatment. A course requirement like a deadline may be unfair to you, based on a life event or a disability.

I agree that the requirement is unfair, I am happy to make an accommodation. Here are some exceptional needs I have accommodated in the past: learning disability, physical disability, chronic illness, death in the family, car accident, sick child.

The American Disabilities Act (ADA) is a federal law requiring educational institutions to provide reasonable accommodations for students with disabilities. For more information about UWSP's policies, check here:

<http://www.uwsp.edu/stuaffairs/Documents/RightsRespons/ADAPolicyinfo.pdf>

If you have a disability and require classroom and/or exam accommodations, please register with the Disability and Assistive Technology Center. For more information, please visit the Disability and Assistive Technology Center located on the 6th floor of the Learning Resource Center (Library).
