Course Goals and Description: This is an advanced course for students who have served as a mentor on campus. This course is designed to allow the student the ability to extend their understanding of mentoring and the mentoring process through research conducted on a student-developed question related to a personal area of interest for the student in the mentoring field (the question was honed in EDUC 345). The student works with the instructor to enact the research design that was developed in EDUC 345, and to present, analyze, and discuss findings. The final paper may be submitted for publication, in co-authorship (a collaborative writing experience) with the instructor, to the student/instructor journal of choice (may have been identified in EDUC 345). The student will also continue working with their assigned mentees on college transition, goal development and progress. Time Management, self-discipline, and an acceptance of new challenges are essential for success in this course.

Prerequisites:

EDUC 145 – Introduction to Mentoring

EDUC 245 – Appreciative Mentoring

EDUC 345 – Leadership and Transition

Learning Objectives:

This course is intended to help students:

- Explore the facets of mentoring through inquiry
- Explore a gap found in the literature from EDUC 245
- Conduct research designed in EDUC345 (including subject consent, if appropriate), if not already complete
- Discuss and analyze the finding of the research
- Continue to follow the IRB that was submitted, and approved, in EDUC 345
- Follow the tenants of ethical research

- Continue to develop the research paper related to the student's designated research area – Literature Review was developed in EDUC 245 (new literature added along the way) – additional sections, including research design and data (added in EDUC 345), and discussion will be added according to the submission guidelines of the selected journal, if selecting co-submission
- Apply appreciative inquiry, active listening skills and communication principles when working one-on-one with students in the mentoring program.
- Know how to keep themselves motivated and renewed for learning.

Course Format:

This course will include face-to-face meetings with the instructor, in addition to the student conducting research and analyzing data. The student will work actively on enacting the research method designed in EDUC 345 and approved in the student's approved IRB. Much of this course content and the collaboration with the instructor requires the student to be self-driven and requires active and frequent communication (in-person, email, etc...) in addition to set face-to-face meetings.

Assignments and Expectations:

Conducting Research (if incomplete from EDUC 345): Students will conduct ethical research, following the materials and methods that they created, and had approved, by the Institutional Review Board (IRB).

Collecting Data (if incomplete from EDUC 345): Students will collect data from the research.

Research Paper: Students will extend the literature review portion of their paper (written in EDUC 245) and the research question and materials and methods (written in EDUC 345), by adding the collected data (if not already added) and the analysis/discussion of findings. Students will also write a closing that includes a final summary, limitations, and suggestions for future research. Students will also use the feedback from EDUC 345 to improve prior sections of the papers. For full points, the student must visit the Writing Lab at least three times, at least one week apart and at least two days before the due date. The paper sections will include:

- Topic Introduction and Literature Review
- Data Section (Presentation of Raw Data)
- Discussion/Data Analysis: Students will analyze the data from the research, forming conclusions, identifying trends, discussing result implications.
- Closing
 - Final Words/Take-Aways

- Limitations: Students will identify areas where their research was limited by flaws in design or shortcoming which may have resulted from limited sample sizes, lack of resources, timing, etc...
 - Suggestions for Future Research: Students will identify areas for future research as suggested by the findings, gaps, and remaining questions from their research.
- References

Present Findings in a Public Forum: The student will select a public forum in which to present the findings. This may include presenting to other mentors and to mentees but is encouraged to also include outside audiences (possibilities: local conference, national conference, UWSP Undergraduate Research Symposium).

Submit to Selected Journal (Bonus Points): Students may co-author, with the instructor, a submission to a journal. It is not necessary that the article be accepted for publication to receive full points. It is only required that it be submitted.

Grade Calculations

Course Policies:

Special Needs: If you have a disability and require classroom and/or exam accommodations, please register with the Disability and Assistive Technology Center (DATC) at the beginning of the course and then contact us. We are happy to help in any way that we can. The DATC office is located in Albertson Hall, ALB609. Students can also call the office at 715-346-3365. For more information, visit <http://www.uwsp.edu/disability/Pages/default.aspx>.

Community Rights and Responsibilities: UW-Stevens Point values a safe, honest, respectful, and inviting learning environment. In order to ensure that each student has the opportunity to succeed, a set of expectations has been developed for all students and instructors. This set of expectations is known as the Community Rights and Responsibilities document, and it is intended to help establish a positive living and learning environment at UWSP. Click here for more information: <http://www.uwsp.edu/dos/Pages/Academic-Misconduct.aspx>

Academic Integrity: Academic integrity is central to the mission of higher education in general and UWSP in particular. Academic dishonesty (cheating, plagiarism, etc.) is taken very seriously. Don't do it! The minimum penalty for a violation of academic integrity is a failure (zero) for the assignment. For more information, see the "Student Academic Standards and Disciplinary Procedures" section of the Community Rights and Responsibilities document, UWSP Chapter 14. This can be accessed by viewing page 11 of the document at: <http://www.uwsp.edu/dos/Documents/CommunityRights.pdf> - page=11.

Administrative Withdrawal: A basic requirement of this course is that students participate in class and conscientiously complete writing and reading assignments. Students should keep in touch with the instructors if unable to attend class or complete an assignment on time. If a student misses more than half the class meetings within the first four weeks of the semester without contacting the instructor, that student will be administratively withdrawn from this course. Our class meets 30 times; thus if a student misses more than four classes in the first four weeks, the student may be withdrawn. Administrative withdrawal may have academic, financial, and financial aid implications. Administrative withdrawal will take place after the full refund period, and if a student is administratively withdrawn from the course that student will not be eligible for a tuition refund. In the event that a student is administratively withdrawn, that student's scholarship and mentor positions may be directly affected. The student will need to meet with the mentoring coordinator to discuss the specific situation. If a student has questions about the administrative withdrawal policy at any point during the semester, that student should contact the instructor.
