Course Description:

The intent of this course is to provide an overview of the fundamentals of law enforcement and how they apply to the specific niche of conservation law enforcement, e.g., conservation officers, park rangers, special agents/investigators. The first part of the course will explore basic concepts that apply to most types of law enforcement, while the latter portion of the course will focus on specific types of conservation law enforcement. The course will survey the various types of federal and state agencies involved in conservation law enforcement and their specific areas of focus. Classes will emphasize a wide variety of types of enforcement, applicable laws, field techniques, human dimensions, and operational challenges. The course will focus heavily on conservation law enforcement in Wisconsin but many of the topics will be applicable across North America. The course is equally designed for those desiring a career in natural resources law enforcement or those desiring an in-depth understanding of the function and challenges of law enforcement in contemporary natural resources management.

Course Outcomes:

1. You will be able to demonstrate an understanding of fundamental concepts of law enforcement including constitutional law, police organization, search and seizure, investigation, communication, use of force, discretion, and community policing.
2. You will be able to identify the various organizations involved in conservation law enforcement in the United States and describe the types of enforcement they are involved in.
3. You will be able demonstrate an understanding of relevant natural resources laws and law enforcement strategies in a variety of areas, such as hunting, fishing, trapping, recreational vehicle, Federal, water regulations enforcement, etc., and develop field skills in these areas.
4. You will develop and demonstrate oral and written communication, and critical thinking skills.

Readings:

1. Grant, H.B., and K.J. Terry. 2017. Law Enforcement in the 21st Century. 4th edition. Pearson: Boston, MA. (textbook; required)
2. Borkovich, J. 2017. Wildlife 911: On Patrol. Arbutus Press: Traverse City, MI. (supplemental; required)
3. Ferguson, J.S. 2019. 99 Things Every Law Enforcement Officer Should Know. Looseleaf Law Publications, Inc.: Flushing, NY. (supplemental; required)
4. Various articles and handouts provided during class periods and on Canvas.

Material from readings is testable.

Guest Speakers:

I will be inviting several guest speakers—depending on the COVID situation—to speak to the class throughout the semester. My intent is to have speakers who are active in unique areas of conservation law enforcement come in and speak about their first-hand experiences. As well, there will be an opportunity for you to ask questions and potentially make some future contacts. Material from guest lectures is testable

Discussion/Lab:

My purpose for the discussion period is to provide you with more hands-on, practical experience of concepts we discuss in class or techniques that might be beneficial to you in a conservation law enforcement career (see schedule for weekly topics). My intent is to have most of these experiences outdoors in a field situation, e.g., Schmeckle Reserve, since that is the environment you will have to work in. As such, be prepared to be in the field for discussion and dress for the weather.

Field Scenarios: (may not be applicable this semester due to Covid)

We are planning a field scenario experience which will give you the opportunity to participate in simulated conservation warden field contacts (e.g., fishing, hunting, etc.) supervised and coached by actual Wisconsin DNR conservation wardens. These scenarios will provide you first-hand experience in the challenges involved with applying theory to practice and the human dimensions of law enforcement. They will closely resemble the type of scenarios used to train and evaluate field and recruit wardens. Scenarios are tentatively scheduled for Oct. 21 at Schmeckle Reserve.

Grading Scheme:

Your course grade will be based on the following components:

Exams: There will be two midterm exams and a final exam. The final is cumulative. If you miss an exam you will receive a zero unless I excuse it. See “Due Dates/Late Policy” for absence policy. If you have a valid excuse for missing an exam, I will either reschedule your exam or just double the score of your other midterm exam.

Quizzes/Canvas discussions/assignments:

I will assign discussions, quizzes, and other assignments (e.g., case studies, scenarios, current events, book discussions) in Canvas from time to time to reinforce learning.

Attendance: Attendance is mandatory and necessary to be successful in the course. I consider attendance to be a component of professionalism (See “Professionalism” below). Additionally, material will be covered in class that is pertinent to exams and class assignments that will not be directly stated in any provided slides, class outlines, class notes, etc. I have noticed in previous classes that success is consistent with regular attendance.

Communication: Students are expected to routinely check their UWSP email and the Canvas course site for updates and materials.

Due Dates/Late Policy: All assignments are due on the specified due date and time. Late assignments will not be accepted. You are responsible for your own time management and keeping up with due dates. Illness, family emergency, etc., may be cause for extending a due date if I am notified prior to the due date (email and voicemail have date and time stamps) and you can document (e.g., Dr.’s note) your absence.

Course Effort/Study: I believe being a full-time University student is akin to having a full-time job. A full-time job generally equates to at least 40 hours of work per week. You will only spend approximately a third of this time in class. You must spend the additional time on your own studying, reading, completing assignments, etc. To get the most out of this course and your University experience (i.e., grades, knowledge, skills, etc.), you must put in the time outside of class. A good rule of thumb is to plan on spending two hours of outside preparation for every hour you spend in class. Budget this time into your weekly/monthly planner.

Academic Integrity: Academic integrity is central to the mission of higher education in general and UWSP in particular. Academic dishonesty (cheating, plagiarism, etc.) is taken very seriously. Don’t do it! The minimum penalty for a violation of academic integrity is a failure (zero) for the assignment. For more information, see the “Student Academic Standards and Disciplinary Procedures” section of the Community Rights and Responsibilities document, UWSP Chapter 14. This can be accessed by viewing page 11 of the document at: <http://www.uwsp.edu/dos/Documents/CommunityRights.pdf>

Students in this course may use the materials and recordings for their personal use related to participation in this class. Students may also take notes solely for their personal use. If a lecture is not already recorded, you are not authorized to record my lectures without my permission unless you are considered by the university to be a qualified student with a disability requiring accommodation. [Regent Policy Document 4-1] Students may not copy or share lecture materials and recordings outside of class, including posting on internet sites or selling to commercial entities. Students are also prohibited from providing or selling their personal notes to anyone else or being paid for taking notes by any person or commercial firm without the instructor’s express written permission. addressed under the university's policies, UWS Chapters 14 and 17, governing student academic and non-academic misconduct.

Professionalism: A professional is competent, reliable, respectful, and has integrity. It is a necessary attribute for most careers, particularly law enforcement. It is never too early to begin developing a professional mindset, e.g., being on time with the appropriate equipment, being competent and knowledgeable in your field, completing assignments correctly and on time, being respectful to others, etc. I may deduct up to 5% of your final course grade for lack of professionalism, e.g., absences, profanity, disrespect, sleeping, disrupting class with unsolicited texting, and talking, etc.

Disability Policy: Please discuss with me as soon as possible any concerns you may have regarding a disability, so we can accommodate you as per UWSP policy.

COVID Precautions

Face Coverings:

- At all UW-Stevens Point campus locations, the wearing of face coverings is mandatory in all buildings, including classrooms, laboratories, studios, and other instructional spaces. Any student with a condition that impacts their use of a face covering should contact the Disability and Assistive Technology Center to discuss accommodations in classes. Please note that unless everyone is wearing a face covering, in-person classes cannot take place. This is university policy and not up to the discretion of individual instructors. Failure to adhere to this requirement could result in formal withdrawal from the course.

Other Guidance:

- Please monitor your own health each day using the screening tool on the UWSP homepage. If you are not feeling well or believe you have been exposed to COVID-19, do not come to class; email your instructor and contact Student Health Service (715-346-4646).
 - As with any type of absence, students are expected to communicate their need to be absent and complete the course requirements as outlined in the syllabus.
- Maintain a minimum of 6 feet of physical distance from others whenever possible.
- Do not congregate in groups before or after class; stagger your arrival and departure from the classroom, lab, or meeting room.
- Wash your hands or use appropriate hand sanitizer regularly and avoid touching your face.
- Please maintain these same healthy practices outside the classroom.

Emergency Procedures:

If you see or hear something, say something.

In the event of a medical emergency call 9-1-1 or use Red Emergency Phone. Offer assistance if trained and willing to do so. Guide emergency responders to victim.

In the event of a tornado warning, proceed to the lowest level interior room without window exposure. See www.uwsp.edu/rmgt/Pages/em/procedures/other/floor-plans.aspx for floor plans showing severe weather shelters on campus. Avoid wide-span structures (gyms, pools or large classrooms).

In the event of a fire alarm, evacuate the building in a calm manner. Meet at location 200 yards from building. Notify instructor or emergency command personnel of any missing individuals.

Active Shooter/Code React – Run/Escape, Hide, Fight. If trapped hide, lock doors, turn off lights, spread out and remain quiet. Call 9-1-1 when it is safe to do so. Follow instructions of emergency responders.

See UW-Stevens Point Emergency Procedures at www.uwsp.edu/rmgt/Pages/em/procedures for details on all emergency response at UW-Stevens Point.
