Schacter, D. L., Gilbert, D. T., Nock, M. K., & Wegner, D. M. (2020). Psychology (5th ed.). Worth.

The first few chapters are posted on Canvas to give you time to obtain your hard copy from Text Rental. Also, please do not rely on previous editions of the textbook for this course. There have been some notable updates in the most recent edition that will be reflected in the quizzes and exams. Psychology is a science that grows and changes through ongoing research.

WEBSITE

In this course, Canvas is used to distribute documents, administer quizzes, and post grades. To access Canvas, you will need an internet connection and a web browser (login at this website: <https://www.uwsp.edu/canvas/Pages/default.aspx>) or you can download the Canvas Student mobile app for Android or iOS from your preferred app store. You will need your UWSP login and password to access the website and app. If you would like to learn more about how to use Canvas features (such as discussion boards or quizzes), please review the helpful resources posted on the Canvas website: https://community.canvaslms.com/t5/Canvas-Student/ct-p/canvas\_student. DESCRIPTION

This course provides an introduction to the essential concepts and principles of psychology—the systematic study of thoughts, feelings, and behavior. The course begins with an overview of the science and profession of psychology. It then considers a range of key topics in psychology, such as neuroscience, memory, motivation, development, personality, and social behavior. The course concludes with a look at psychology as applied to health and wellness.

OBJECTIVES

Upon completing this course, students will be able to:

1. Explain or apply major concepts, theories, or methods used in psychological science to investigate, analyze, or predict human behavior.
2. Examine and explain how social, cultural, or political institutions influence individuals or groups.

ASSIGNMENTS

Exams. Four exams will be administered in this course. Each will cover three weeks of material. They will consist of 45 multiple-choice questions (45 questions x 2.5 points per question = 100 points). Since only 40 of the questions will be scored, you are allowed to choose which 40 you would like to answer. This provides you with flexibility in how you demonstrate your knowledge and proficiency in using course concepts and principles. The lowest of your first three exams will be dropped; the fourth will not be dropped. Since only two of your first three exams will count toward your final grade, there is no requirement that you complete all three of them unless you choose to do so. Nonetheless, given the reality of missed opportunities, I strongly encourage you to complete ALL of the exams.

The exams will provide you with feedback on your progress in learning the course concepts and principles, as well as on applying them to real world examples. When preparing for the exams, I suggest that you practice coming up with your own examples of the concepts. As an academic language, psychology is a knowledge-based skill that you need to use in real life to get the hang of it. Think about young children who use the word “cat” to identify any small mammal (whether dogs, bunnies, or squirrels). It is only through bona fide practice that they get the hang of using words that they are learning through trial-and-error. Coming up with your own examples of key concepts is not only more memorable, it helps you to better prepare for exams. Please check out the Study Helpers module on Canvas for additional exam preparation materials.

Quizzes. You must complete eight-of-ten available quizzes on the readings in your textbook (only your best eight will count toward your final grade). Each quiz will consist of 10 multiple-choice questions (10 questions x 1.25 points per question = 12.5 points) based on one chapter of material. The quizzes will be administered through Canvas and drawn randomly from a pool of questions. You should complete the quiz after reading the chapter and studying the material. You will have 15 minutes to complete a quiz. You are allowed to take the quiz twice if you prefer (each attempt will contain different questions, even for the same student). This provides you with an opportunity to earn a better grade on the second attempt (you will receive the highest of the two attempts) and another chance to complete the quiz if a technology failure occurs. Each quiz will be available on Canvas one week before its due date (Mondays at 9pm, except for exam weeks). Since you have two chances to complete a quiz over a week’s time, makeup requests are generally not granted unless they clearly fall under the makeup policy. I strongly encourage you to complete ALL of the quizzes. Students who opt out of early quizzes are likely to be disappointed if they earn lackluster scores on later ones. Any skipped quizzes are missed opportunities to learn the material and improve your grade! Please note that two additional quizzes are also offered for students who want extra exam preparation. These quizzes are optional and ungraded.

The quizzes help you out in many ways: they encourage you keep up with readings, prepare for class, practice thinking about the material, offer feedback on your progress, identify topics that you need to review, and reduce the percentage of your grade that is based on exams.

Research. The research requirement provides you with an in-depth experience with research being conducted in the Psychology Department. This requirement involves participating in two hours (that is, two credits) of psychological research or completing some library research. This requirement does not accrue points toward your grade—it is simply a requirement that must be fulfilled in order to receive a final grade. For more information about this requirement, see the PSYC 110 Research Requirement Canvas site (a different site than the one for our course).

REMEMBER TO COMPLETE THE RESEARCH REQUIREMENT BY FRIDAY, DECEMBER 10TH IN ORDER TO RECEIVE A GRADE FOR THIS COURSE!

POLICIES

Assessment. To maintain the integrity of classroom exams, the use of mobile devices will not be permitted during exams without prior documented approval from the Disability and Assistive Technology Center (DATC) or other pertinent offices on campus. This includes requests to use mobile devices for foreign language translation assistance. Students found using devices will be dismissed and receive zeroes on their exams. Additional penalties will be considered under the misconduct policy.

Attendance. The professor will not take formal attendance. Nonetheless, consistent attendance is important for performing well in the course. Classes will clarify the readings and include other material that is covered on the exams. If you cannot attend class, be sure to get the slides from Canvas and copy the notes from another student.

Communication. Please contact the professor with your questions or concerns related to this course, as well as other academic and career-related issues. Office hours are the most reliable means of contact. The professor holds around three office hours per week. If you cannot attend office hours, please schedule an appointment. Email is the next most reliable means of contact. The professor generally respond to emails in two business days (not on evenings or weekends). To avoid being snagged by email filters, type PSYC 110 in the subject line. Emails requiring a lot of discussion will be referred to office hours. Other methods of contacting the professor (such as stopping by outside of office hours) are generally unreliable.

Disabilities. UWSP is committed to reasonable and appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities and temporary impairments. If you have a disability or acquire a condition during the semester where you need assistance, contact Disability and Assistive Technology on the 6th floor of Albertson Hall (the library) as soon as possible. DATC can be reached at 715-346-3365 or DATC@uwsp.edu.

Emergencies. In the event of a medical emergency, call 911 or use one of the Red Emergency Phones in the longer hallways to that run alongside our classroom. Offer assistance if trained and willing to do so. Guide emergency responders to those in need. In the event of a tornado warning, proceed to the lowest level interior room without windows. See <https://www.uwsp.edu/emergency/Pages/floor-plans.aspx> for floor plans showing the severe weather shelters (such as interior hallways and classrooms). Avoid wide-span structures (such as gyms, pools, or large classrooms). In the event of a fire alarm, evacuate the building in a calm manner and meet on the north side of CCC (outside MCCH). Notify instructor or emergency command personnel of any missing individuals. In the event of an Active Shooter/Code React, run/escape, hide, fight. If trapped, hide, lock doors, turn off lights, spread out, and remain quiet. Call 911 when it is safe to do so. Follow instructions of emergency responders. See the Emergency Management site for details on UWSP's emergency response procedures: <https://www.uwsp.edu/emergency/Pages/emergency-procedures.aspx>.

Illegalities. Under several federal and state laws, as well as university guidelines, the professor is required to report acts of a criminal or offensive nature that occur in and outside of class. This includes acts of sexual harassment and assault, bias and hate crimes, illicit drug use, and acts of violence. Any disclosure or description of these incidents, past or current, may be reported to the Dean of Students (<http://www.uwsp.edu/dos/>) or local authorities.

Incompletes. Incompletes will only be considered for students in exceptional situations, such as serious medical or emergency situations. They are generally not for students who simply feel overwhelmed by routine academic or extracurricular activities. Requests for incompletes must be accompanied by documentation. In most cases, all coursework must be finished within one semester to avoid receiving an F in the course.

Makeups. Makeups assignments will generally only be considered for students who cannot complete them on time due to academic, athletic, or religious obligations, major illnesses, or comparable reasons. Requests for makeups must be accompanied by documentation, such as letters from coaches, doctors, or spiritual leaders. In most cases, makeups must be completed within a week of the original deadline to avoid receiving a zero for the assignment.

Misconduct. The professor takes instances of misconduct (such as cheating and plagiarism) seriously. The minimum penalty for an instance of misconduct will be a zero on the assignment. Additional penalties will be considered under university policy. Please do not put yourself and others through disciplinary proceedings. To read about the university's misconduct policy, go to: <https://www.uwsp.edu/dos/Pages/Student-Conduct.aspx>.

Professionalism. Respectful behavior in the classroom is necessary for an environment conducive to learning and intellectual exchange. Although I minimize the formality of this course, there are limits that I ask you to respect. Students who—answer cell phones, text message, use their laptop or handheld devices inappropriately (for email, games, internet surfing, listening to music, messaging, completing homework for another class, etc.), carry on conversations with others, habitually arrive late and disturb others as they take their seats, pack belongings before the end of class, habitually leave early and disturb others as they exit doors, sleep and snore, and read newspapers, magazines, or other materials during class—can distract the professor and other students in the class (even when they are trying to be polite or subtle about it). Such disruptions are disrespectful and hinder the experience of everyone in class. Students who are unable to respect these limits may be asked to leave the room until they can show that they are able to give the class their complete attention. If you find that one or more students in the class are hindering your educational experience, please contact me privately as soon as possible.
