A Purple Dot in a Sea of Green & Gold...

When it comes to showing off her school pride, Ellen Winn-Golomski truly stands out in the crowd. During a trip to the hallowed grounds of Lambeau Field with her mother Lorna to watch the Packers play the Eagles this preseason, Ellen and Lorna wore the Purple and Gold of UWSP with pride. One fellow spectator, a UWSP graduate seated near them thought it was 'really cool' to see them in their Pointer garb. As Ellen often puts it, "Everywhere and everyday is a great day to be a Pointer".

Ellen and her 79 year-old Mom usually try to make it to one Packer game every year. Their usual pregame routine includes a trip to Red Lobster, enjoying the fun that tailgaters provide on their walk to Lambeau Field, and enjoying the game itself. They both hope to continue to catch a game over the next few years before handing off their seats to the next generation.

On the trip to Green Bay, "You just never know what you're going to see in Wisconsin" said Ellen after discovering 'Stanley the Sturgeon' in Fremont, Wisconsin. Stanley stands guard over a protected sturgeon spawning area in Fremont. Thanks for sharing your images and journey with all of us Ellen!

DATELINE: OCTOBER 4th, 1957

'The Soviets had orbited the world's first artificial satellite. Anyone who doubted its existence could walk into the backyard just after sunset and see it.'

— Writer Mike Gray, from his book "Angle of Attack".

On a Friday, in October of 1957, the Soviet Union did just that by launching and orbiting Sputnik 1. The 'Space Race' was off and running. The satellite was the size of a basketball and weighed approximately 180 pounds. It traveled at 18,000 mph, 500 miles above the Earth's surface. It orbited the Earth every 98 minutes, flying over the United States seven times a day. Sputnik remained in orbit until Jan. 4, 1958, when it re-entered and burned up in Earth's atmosphere.
