Course Description:

This course explores the major historical processes that produced the modern world that we live in today. Learning about the history of the world does not require us to know every little detail and fact about all the regions of the world. World history is not the sum of the histories of the world's parts. Rather, it is an exploration of the patterns and processes of global interconnection. That said, you will be introduced to a number of key events, dates, and people(s) that have shaped history. The point is not simply to throw information out at you. Rather, the object is to train your mind to see patterns in what initially may seem like a bunch of seemingly disconnected facts. This will come in very handy to you right now and later in life. Don't believe me? Go watch all the "talking heads" on CNN or Fox News for an hour or so and you'll start to see them drawing on some event in the past to make point (usually wrong) about today. What we think about the past determines how we think about the present. Since we live in a globalized world, I guess it might be a good idea to take a world history course. On board? Good.

This course is delivered primarily as a lecture, but there will be plenty of moments in class for one-to-one, group, and whole-class interaction and discussion. Participating fully in these activities is crucial for your success; they are moments for you to question and probe the problems and events presented in class, and are thus opportunities for deepening your comprehension and interpretation of world history.

Course Learning Outcomes:

This course fulfills the Historical Perspectives (Investigation Level) and Global Awareness (Cultural and Environmental Awareness) requirements of the General Education Program (GEP).

As such, students who diligently complete this course in good faith will be able to:

- 1) Evaluate the notions of historical inevitability and contingency by analyzing how human choices (agency) and natural forces have shaped global historical change. (Historical perspectives.)
- 2) Analyze primary historical documents (texts, films, posters, music, etc.) to recognize and understand the role of interpretation in the construction of knowledge about the past. (Historical perspectives.)
- 3) Apply the content and interpretive skills learned in class to evaluate competing historical claims about past that inform how we think about the present. (Historical perspectives.)
- 4) Recognize the similarities and differences of various cultures and societies of the world and analyze how historical forces (e.g. demographic migrations, imperial expansion, and long-distant trade) have linked these groups in the past and shaped the modern world. (Historical perspectives and global awareness.)

Required Materials: Texts

(Recommended) Tignor et al., Worlds Together, Worlds Apart: A History of the World, Volume II. 4th edition. Available for text rental at the university bookstore.

(Required) Pollard and Rosenberg, A Companion Reader to Worlds Together Worlds Apart, second edition. (ISBN: 978-0-393-93778-7) This is the main primary source reader for this class. You must bring this book to class (almost) everyday! Readings from this text are noted in the schedule (below) by "Reader." Available for purchase or text rental at the university bookstore.

(Required) Chinua Achebe, Things Fall Apart, Anchor Books, 1959. Available for purchase at the university bookstore

Required Materials: Dersire2Learn (D2L):

In addition to the texts, other primary and secondary source readings will be required. These will be posted on the D2L website and are noted in the schedule below by an asterisk (*). You must print, read, and bring these documents to class as they will be the basis for our primary source discussion.

Mustafa Kemal "Ataturk" (1923)

Assignments:

Midterm Exam: There will be a midterm exam. The exam will consist of multiple choice and short writing. I will provide a study guide.

Final: The final will be in the same format as the midterm and will be cumulative.

In-Class Activities/Writing: We will be engaging in various writing and group exercises throughout the semester. I will be collecting the products of these exercises and giving you credit for them on D2L. They will not be graded. Instead, I will be evaluating them on the + √ - system. These marks will be recorded in D2L as 3-2-1 respectively. If you complete the work and put forth good effort, you will receive a +. Varying degrees of completeness or effort will result in either a √ or a -

. You will be in serious danger of not passing this class if you do not complete these assignments. See scale below.

Grading (weighted percentage):

Midterm: 30%
 Final: 40%
 In-Class Activities/Writing: 30%
 Total: 100%

Grading scale (percentage):

A	93-100	B-	80-82	D+	67-69
A-	90-92	C+	77-79	D	60-66
B+	87-89	C	73-76	F	59 and below
B	83-86	C-	70-72

Other Stuff:

Electronics: All electronics must be turned off during class. These include cell phones, laptops, and tablets. In some cases laptop use may be permitted, if the student has an accommodation approved by the Disability Services Office (see below).

Plagiarism: For information on plagiarism, consult <http://www.uwsp.edu/centers/rights>. See Chapter 14, Student Academic Standards and Disciplinary Procedures, pages 5 -10, for the disciplinary possibilities if you are caught cheating. I will vigorously pursue all incidents of plagiarism.

Equal Educational Opportunities: If you have a learning or physical challenge which requires classroom accommodation, please contact the UWSP Disability and Assistive Technology Center (6th Floor of the Learning Resources Center) with your documentation as early as possible in the semester. They will then notify me, in a confidential memo, of the accommodations that will facilitate your success in the course. Voice: (715) 346-3365, TTY: (715) 346-3362, <http://www.uwsp.edu/special/disability/studentinfo.htm>.

Absences and Missed Exams: Stuff happens. Sometimes life takes priority over school work. If something comes up and you need to miss a class or cannot make the midterm let me know immediately. I do not always grant extensions on assignments, but I do try to be flexible. It is imperative, therefore, that when incidents arise you do your diligent best to keep me informed.
